THE IMPORTANCE OF SUNCARE IN WINTER

The sun is just as harsh in winter as it is in summer, so you need to use suncare to protect your skin & keep it in optimum condition. Use this guide to understand the effects of winter on skin & why you need to invest in products with SPF.

ALL ABOUT UV RAYS

Skin is exposed to harsh UVA & UVB rays on a daily basis.

They penetrate the skin's deeper layers, breaking down elastin & collagen, & triggering premature ageing like fine lines. These rays also penetrate windows in cars, homes & offices, causing damage to skin even when you are indoors.

UVB rays are responsible for sunburn, pigmentation & skin cancer. UVB light is reflected from sand & water, so extra precautions should be taken when planning a trip outdoors.

WHY YOU NEED SUNCARE

- Helps prevent sunburn & peeling
- Keeps skin looking healthy & even-toned
- Slows down premature wrinkles & age spots
- Helps reduce your risk of skin cancer

SEE PAGE 41
TO PURCHASE
YOUR SOLARTEC™
SUNCARE

WHY YOU NEED A DAY CREAM WITH SPF

- Provides skin with an additional protective barrier
- Prevents the sun from breaking down collagen & triggering premature ageing
- Helps skin retain moisture, preventing wrinkles caused by dryness
- Specially formulated for your unique skin type & concerns
- Helps prevent sun spots & reduce the look of uneven skin tone

DEBUNKING SUNCARE MYTHS

It makes my skin oily

SolarTec™ products are absorbed easily into skin. If you have oily skin or simply enjoy a matte finish, try SolarTec™ Mattifying Defence for Face

I only need it in summer

The sun still emits UV rays whether it's hot or cold & with the ozone layer depleting, you are at risk of sun damage on a daily basis

I don't need it because I have dark skin tone

While melanin-rich skin tones are protected from UVB rays that cause sunburn, they are not protected from UVA rays that cause wrinkles & skin damage

One application of suncare is enough

Apply suncare at least 30 minutes before heading outside to allow it to absorb into the skin. Reapply every 2 hours after exposure to the sun to ensure effective protection
